

HIGH MAYHEM

is a not-for-profit multimedia arts collective in Santa Fe, NM. It's an art-space, record label and multi-track recording studio.

We curate performances, workshops and recording sessions year-round with musicians and artists local and global, and bring them together for new collaborations.

High Mayhem actively supports experimentation in the arts, especially improvisation and recombination across media to foster emerging art forms.

We multitrack every one of our productions to drum-up appreciation and awareness of the more creative players and makers about us. Annually, performers and spectators from near and far come together for a phenomenal conjunction. This year, experience...
